

OWN your game.[®] in business. in sport. in life.

Thank you for listening to my story. Based on my personal experience I have made it my life's mission to help others who are struggling with their own challenges the best way I know – through the game of golf. You don't need to know much about golf to apply what I've learned in my journey to yours.

YOU ARE NOT YOUR SCORE

Golf is just a game, in that same regard, life is a bigger game with more at stake. So many keep score, a tally, or a playbook on the course and off. Golf and life are meant to be enjoyed! Your worth is not based on what you shoot on the course or what you accumulate in life. Your worth lies in the person you are, and how that is then applied to the world and people around you.

WHO ARE YOU?

To play the best, most enjoyable golf or to live a meaningful life you need to be authentic of who you truly are. This includes doing some hard work on the inside – finding out your strengths, weaknesses, opportunities for improvement and more. Many don't have the ability to figure this out. This is important because when golf, or life, gives you a bad break or lie – being able to react can be critical. Here is a complementary resource that we've created and utilized and found tremendously useful in figuring this out click HERE.

THERE IS HOPE

As I addressed in my personal story, when you are able and willing to dig deep and get to the root cause of your pain, there is hope for the future. You can finally stop sitting on the nail causing that pain. Then you can look in the mirror and see what your true worth, talent and gifts are. You can then plant a seed to formulate a path to pursue goals and dreams as well as the path forward. Golf and life are very similar in this way. But remember once you begin the process of working on yourself, it's like a seed once planted. You need to give yourself patience, grace, and the time necessary to grow and bloom.

Know that you have incredible WORTH! I dare you to look within to unlock this!
